

Concrete Rose

Lankenua is a teenage girl who was brought to the United States by her parents along with the boy that she was betrothed to marry. The boys parents were to give her parents two million dollars upon them marrying, so that Lankenuas parents could expand her mothers business. However, when Lankenua becomes interested in another young man that she meets at her school, and while working in the shop, her whole world flips upside down. Now Lankenua has some important decisions to make. Will she follow through with tradition and marry the man she is betrothed to marry or will she adapt to her new life in the United States and push the principles and values of her homeland aside?
