

Trout Tales & Other Angling Stories

Corey Ford gave the world The Lower Forty and was for three decades America's finest sporting writer. Now, from the archives of Corey Ford's literary estate, comes a delightful collection of angling stories - most of them fly fishing - compiled by Laurie Morrow, Corey's official biographer, and illustrated with photos from Corey's personal collection. None of these stories has ever been collected in book form, and many of them have never been published anywhere before. Mrs. Morrow discovered them among Corey's papers in the archives, lying dormant for twenty-five years. During his long career, Ford authored countless magazine stories, a number of screenplays, and 30 books, many of them humor. In his day, he was considered one of America's foremost writers of humor and parody. You will love this book only if you also love fishing, humor, whimsy, and writing that's like fine wine.
