

Prize Cases Heard and Decided in the Prize Court, During the Great War (Classic Reprint)

In this volume of Prize Cases it is believed that the practitioner will find all the decisions of permanent interest on the law and practice of Prize decided since the outbreak of the war in August, 1914, down to the end of 1915. The first Prize Court in England since the time of the Crimean War sat on September 4, 1914, under the Presidency of the Right Honourable Sir Samuel Evans, P.C., LL.D., President of the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division, and there have been ninety-seven subsequent sittings. Many new points have arisen for decision, and ancient principles have been adapted to modern requirements; and in upholding the traditions of its predecessors the Court has had regard to the circumstances arising out of the particular situation of the war and of the condition of the parties engaged in it. A notable example of this is the case of The Kim (and other Scandinavian vessels) probably the most important case ever decided in a Prize Court in which the learned President applied the doctrine of continuous voyage to conditional contraband and condemned large quantities of foodstuff shipped from the United States in neutral vessels and ostensibly consigned to a neutral port.
