

Human Predators

Betrayal is a gut-wrenching insidious experience. Often we are betrayed by those we trust the most, those who have shared in our lives and who have been part of our inner circle. How do we forgive a mother who chooses to abandon us for a sexual predator, a caregiver who molests our child, or a stepsister who manipulates in order to claim an inheritance? These human predators have lost their moral compass in pursuit of personal gratification: just like Judas Iscariot. After all, as Christians, we are taught to respect our mother and father and to love our neighbor. This story is about the journey of a daughter learning how to forgive the human predators who have impacted her life.
