

Resurrecting Dustin Tierney

My son, a highly sought-after high school quarterback, was injured in the field of play. Being an old school player, coach, and fan, my reaction to the helmet-to-helmet collision as I screamed from the stands was, That's only a bell ringer. Toughen up and get back on that field. What happened next would change my attitude forever. This story is based on that incident. Randolph Tierney is me on the other side of the looking glass. His son, Dustin, is in many ways mine. Through the progression of the story, many different characters enter their lives. Each of them, as in each of us, has experienced in one form or another, the destructive intangibles of life that come to each of us without warning. From that event and with the help of others, we find a way to heal. Than there are those who refuse, and what becomes of them?
