

Iran-United States Claims Arbitration: Debates on Commercial and Public International Law

Iran-United States Claims Tribunal Reports, published by Grotius Publications, Cambridge University Press, comprising hitherto thirty-eight volumes. They are available on the shelves of all law and certain major courts and public libraries across the world. The main objective of the author in this work is to make the Tribunals case law readily accessible through a systematic presentation of legal issues along with handy references to the volumes, pages, and paragraphs of the source as appeared in the Grotius Reports. It is for all practical purposes a concise compendium making the study of the Tribunals jurisprudence within reach and a convenient source of study and reference for legal practitioners, law students, and academics in the field of international law arbitration.
