

The Day of No Consequence (Part 5: London Book 6)

The Day of No Consequence is a six-part international geopolitical thriller with an opening Prologue set in the year 2024, ten years after the enactment of a historic Accord, agreed at an extraordinary Summit on Armistice Day, 11th November 2014. The Summit was urgently convened to address the upheaval in the world economy and the added frightening discovery of cosmic instability, which threatens the future survival of the planet. Harsh remedial measures demand such tremendous compromises that the delegates agree to a controversial provision. On one day each year, citizens may commit any transgression without fear of prosecution. The 11th November is thus universally decreed as The Day of No Consequence.
