

The Band Couch: It smelled like poetry

This collection of poems comes from years of collecting writings written in journals, on scraps of paper, and sticky notes. Delve into the imprisoned mind of an estranged and misunderstood teen with thoughts about love, life, spirituality and more. A raw and honest journey through a dark childhood and adolescence is represented. These poems, thoughts, and bits represent the lone teenage landscape of the late 1990s in a cutting way. Experience drama, tragedy, hate, desire, and indifference in real language that makes sense. Draw on the almost intangible way one can relate to a journey that is fraught with pitfalls. The following poems are in this book: The Band Couch Crucify, Crystallize, Death at the Mossy Rock, Deep Shallow Waters, Desk of Shame, Different, Do I?, ...Door, Dont, Dont Look at Me, Dream Flow, Drowning in my Failure, Drunk, Emptiness, Every Single Day, Every Day is a New Beginning, Expectations, Eyes and Lies, Fallen Tear, Falling Asleep, Fame, Fat Bellies, Fear of Success, February 5th, Fickle World, Fill Me, Foolish Woman, Forgotten, Funny Inside, Gift of Prose, Glass Summer, Handgun Mayhem, Good Enough, Headache, Healing Power
